Welcome 2nd home

note :
although the home page template is rendered :

the url of the website is localhost/form this is not desirable

we wish to see the home page and the url should also be of the home page we dont want to see the home page when the url is something else this is why we should only use render template when the server wants to return the template on http get request we shall never use render template while handling http post request instead we can use the redirect fxn

Welcome Home

In this case we have used redirect and not render template

This is why we can see the home page and also the url of the home page
